Issue 2

People who wear Techeiles are part of a fringe group.

You get it? The Techeiles are the blue fringes (not worn by all) added to the Tzitzis/Tallis..

RABBI ANSWERS HIS PUPILS

I am trying to make my kitchen religious friendly. I got a bad reputation recently, as I only have one sink. Nobody eats with us, and it is very painful to have to talk to my husband at dinner all the time. How do I make my home more Frum friendly so friends trust me again?

Fine question, my pupil. Here are some rules that all Jews of Kosher must live by:

° Never have you fridge light on.

Fridge lights must be off for Shabbat.

That means 'never turn it on.' As a Frum Jew you are always in a state of Shabbat. You should never be able to see into your fridge. If anybody can find the vegetable bin, it's a definite sign that you're not keeping kosher.

° Use tin. A lot of tin. After tin, use tinfoil. Tinfoil everything. If you use a pot for cooking, cover it with tinfoil. Paper plates. Plastic table cloths. Use plastic forks and knives. Anything that shows that you do not care about the environment will work. The greatest Shabbat miracle I ever experienced was when I got through a whole piece of chicken without the fork breaking.

° Always have a sponge cake out.

° When Pesach comes, use more tinfoil. Cover your kitchen fully in tin. Your kitchen should blind guests. It helps for hiding Chametz. Seeing leavened bread is a sin. If there's enough tinfoil, you won't be able to see anything.

° Have at least two sinks. I suggest a sink for every day of the week. That will comfort all who question your kosher standing. General rule of thumb: Never use a sink twice.

° Don't let your husband in the kitchen ever. He'll treif it up.... If you follow these rules, all will trust your kashrut, and eat in your kitchen, even if you don't invite them.

SERMON OF REBUKE - TAZRIA>>>

Shabbat Shalom My Congregants.

Another double Parsha... No. You don't announce everything Frank. It's painful. It was a double Parsha!!! I wasn't going to give a sermon. I had so much time to think. I came up with a double sermon about what really is Tzara'at and quarantine... The Kiddish Club left at Shelishi... They thought it was the Haftorah. That's how long your laying was, Frank...

(Vayikra 12:8) 'The Kohen shall atone for her, and she shall be pure.' After birth, before fully joining community, purification happens with atonement... You have to feel bad, Frank...

There are times where people are invited to be part of the congregation and times when they don't pay dues... No. But they should get leprosy for that... That's Tzara'at, I think....

In the Talmud (Arachin 15b) it takes the word Mtzora (leprosy of sorts) and teaches that it comes from somebody who brings out bad; they teach that means speaking slander.

Lashon Hara, slander, makes you not fit for being around other people... Talk bad, you bring bad you get white patches. Can't be in shul... She does need to get a bit of a tan. No rabbi should have to be looking at pale congregants... No. You can't quarantine them because they had a bad hair day... That's not Tzarat... People should be kicked out... We've already talked of the bouncer at Kiddish Club...

(Vayikra 13:5) The Kohen 'closes off' the afflicted... Our Kohen needs to do more... He should be bouncing... You first have to close them off. Send them outside the camp... You can get a tan in the wilderness...

This community is excommunicated until everybody does something to improve their skin... Ahava products only... There will be an Ahava sale on Monday. Shmulik and Yasmin, from Israel, will be giving half off at the Ahava cart at Wimby Market...

Frank did the Mitzvah of reading and now he has to sit in his purity. Do you feel bad about reading for the congregation?... Atone by reading faster... The Kiddish Club tailgated my sermon because of you... It was a beautiful Yom HaAtzmaut. And now, our guest speaker...

Rivka's Notes on Rabbi Mendelchem's

Drasha: I think everybody in the shul was placed in quarantine this week, which hurt the daily Minyin. Mr. Felsenblum, had to go to Saint Louis for Kaddish, daily.

The rabbi started an AA meeting during the Haftorah reading, but the Kiddish Club got more people.

The bouncer the hired for Kiddish Club was a bit much. Having Mad Dog kicking Jews out of shul had people protesting due to of anti-Semitism.

The Yom HaAtzmaut Israeli speaker we hired only spoke for three minutes. His allotted time was taken by the rabbi and Frank.
