

THE Kibbitzer

Issue 149

The Seder went very fast. They thought you're supposed to passover it.

You get it? Passover, Pass over. Passover is the holiday. You don't speed through the Seder to pass over it. There is always room for more Passover puns.

RABBI ANSWERS HIS PUPILS

Dear Rabbi. I am trying to clean my house for Pesach. What is the best stuff to clean with?

Shalom My Dear Pupil. You want to ensure your home is free of all Chametz that a dog might eat. Shpritzes. You want six to twelve sprays. The shpritz that cleans sinks. Shpritz that cleans sinks and tiles. The shpritz that cleans sinks, tiles and showers. Shpritz that cleans off the shpritz. They are all vital for correct Pesach cleaning.

•Spray Down Your Home and It Will Be Kosher for Pesach Spray a lot. Turn your home into a semi-toxic nuclear plant. That is Kosher for Pesach and dogs will not eat it. A picture of a skull on the label is important. A skull with an 'x' made of bones is a comforting sign of good Passover practice, ensuring that your home is not edible.

•Do Not Eat the Sprays Make sure your spray says 'Do Not Eat.' Otherwise, it will get confusing when are spraying down the wood and you get hungry. Yes, it says 'Kosher for Pesach,' but it says on the back 'Do not eat.' That is very confusing. I recommend you consult your local rabbi, to see if you should or shouldn't eat it on Pesach. If you see the skull though, I would suggest to stay away from eating shpritz, even if it does go well with Matzah.

•Warning: Oven cleaner takes off a layer of grease from the oven and your finger.

HALACHA SHVUI: Gd doesn't change. Change is for beings in our low dark world. I feel like I'm sinning, defining H' by saying He isn't definable.

SERMONS OF REBUKE: TAZRIA

Shabbat Shalom My Pupils... We are speaking of Tzaraas. Times of separation. Other times of separation are when your rabbi is relaxing in his office... It's not office hour. It's time for your rabbi to separate from you... You're a Tamei congregation. Very impure... So much white hair in this shul. Cause of Lashon Hara... It might be because Bernie is in his late eighties. Maybe. I think it's because of Lashon Hara...

(Vayikra 13:21) 'If the Kohen looks and its appearance is lower than skin and (Baheres) hair hasn't turned white... the

Kohen quarantines it for seven days.'

When there's a question, you separate. Bernie's hair is white. It's been white for years, and we still listen to his bad jokes... That's not discoloration. That is just bad use of makeup...

Quarantine. A corner of the shul for people who make noise... Your phone calls are loud. Now we have to hear you chewing gum????!! Are you just trying to find ways to make noise?! Next is going to be page ruffling. A corner for people who chew gum. Next to the old single people that scare kids.

Rivka's Notes on Rabbi Mendelchem's Sermon: I've never seen a rabbi try so hard to bring proof from the Torah that Bernie should not be a congregant.

SHUL ANNOUNCEMENTS

The solar eclipse was an amazing event. We also want to thank Dr. Velnner's Eye Care Associates for donating the eclipse glasses. They were very safe, as you couldn't see anything through them.

We ask for no gum chewing during services. It turns out that your gum chewing is almost as loud as your phone calls and Chuching.

We suggest hiring somebody to clean your home for Pesach. We also require all congregants vacuum their kids before bringing them to shul on Passover. We have seen how disgusting your children are. Last week nobody got Kugel as it was on Ben's shirt.

We ask members to calm down when congratulating an Aliyah to the Torah. The high fives are a bit obsessive. You're scaring families.

Contemporary Halacha Classes: How to Clean. How to say Yashkoych Without Cheering. How to Avoid Bernie and Bad Jokes.

You want your Passover Shpritzes to be specific. The one with the lemon is for cleaning lemons.
